Flaming River announces new keyed steering columns for Mopar applications

Berea, Ohio — Flaming River Industries now offers a completely new line of tilt steering columns for Chrysler applications featuring a new Chrysler-style key and tumbler assembly. A major feature of the new Mopar column is a slip shaft with the proper universal joint to install to a stock Chrysler manual or power steering box. This provides added safety if a collision affects the steering system, allowing the shaft to collapse, while retaining steering control. The Mopar key columns are available only in floor shift models.

The new one-piece key assembly housing is not an “add-on”, and delivers eye-appeal and user convenience. The column-mounted assembly is mounted in the original “Key At 3” (o’clock) location as found on the early-70s classic Chrysler cars. The columns fit Chrysler, Dodge and Plymouth A-bodies (Dart, Duster), B-bodies (Coronet, Daytona, Super Bee, Satellite, GTX, Roadrunner), C-bodies (Monaco, Polara, Fury, Sport Fury), and E-bodies (Cuda, Challenger).

The columns are completely “Made in the USA”, featuring all-new components throughout, including the ignition switch and key assembly. The columns utilize stainless steel tubes and aluminum housings in paintable (mill finish), black powder coat or chromed finishes. The wiring connectors are included to make installation “plug and play.”
